TRI ORIGIN COMMENCES DRILLING AT RED LAKE

Tri Origin Exploration Ltd. (the “Company” or “Tri Origin”) (TOE: TSX-V) is pleased to announce that a drilling rig contracted by the Company has been mobilized to the Company’s Red Lake Extension Project (“RLX”) at Red Lake, Ontario and a diamond drilling program has commenced. The current program is anticipated to comprise 6 holes totalling approximately 1,000 metres, conducted in the northeast part of the property. Assay results will be released upon completion of the program.

Summer field work is ongoing at the property and has consisted of geochemical sampling and geological mapping. This work, in conjunction with an extensive VTEM airborne geophysical survey conducted over the property last year and results from the Company’s previously conducted field campaigns has served to prioritize drill targets for the current program.

RLX is a gold exploration project comprised of approximately 30,000 acres located adjacent to Goldcorp Inc’s mine property and 15 kilometres southeast of Goldcorp’s Red Lake mine. This 100%-owned land position makes Tri Origin one of the top 5 claimholders in the Red Lake District. The highly prolific Red Lake District hosts several major gold mines and has produced over 20 million ounces of gold. The Company’s work continues to validate its hypothesis that RLX is underlain by the important mine trend rock units that host the Red Lake gold mine and other past-producing mines northwest of RLX.

Dr. Robert Valliant, President of the Company said, “Tri Origin’s team continues to delineate and prioritize exciting new targets as its evaluation of RLX progresses and considering the size of the property, lack of previous exploration and proximity to one of Canada’s premier gold mining districts we continue to believe that the property has the potential to host significant, and as yet undiscovered, gold deposits.”

The Company is also pleased to announce that William Killinger, director and recently appointed Chairman of Tri Origin’s Australian affiliate company, Tri Origin Minerals Ltd., has been awarded the honour of Member in the General Division of the Order of Australia. Bill’s service as an engineer in the railway sector, to professional organisations, to the mining sector and to the community is acknowledged through this very significant distinction.
